

Tree and Shrub Establishment

Description

Tree/shrub establishment can be applied on any site capable of growing woody plants, including land enrolled in conservation programs sponsored by USDA, other federal and state agencies, and private organizations.

Benefits

- Woody plants can be established for forest products.
- Provides erosion control.
- Produces woody biomass for energy.
- Improves energy conservation and beautifies the landscape.
- Stores carbon and improves water quality.
- Provides wildlife habitat.
- Controls drifting snow.